

General Lawsonline information

1. Drop Down federal & state search: this feature allows a user to search 15 federal legal codes. It also allows for a search of almost every state legal code. (federal or state codes are the actual laws written in a book) This feature is an extremely important part of our site. Other companies charge for this service, which we provide for free.

2. Drop Down Search entry box: this is the search box where you enter what you want to search for.

3. Directory Listing: this feature allows users to search any state for the different legal areas they may need assistance with. This is also the area where most of our prospective clients will be listed.

4. Lawsonline information: this is an important part of the site where users can come to get information regarding the history of the company, different resources in the company, and general information.

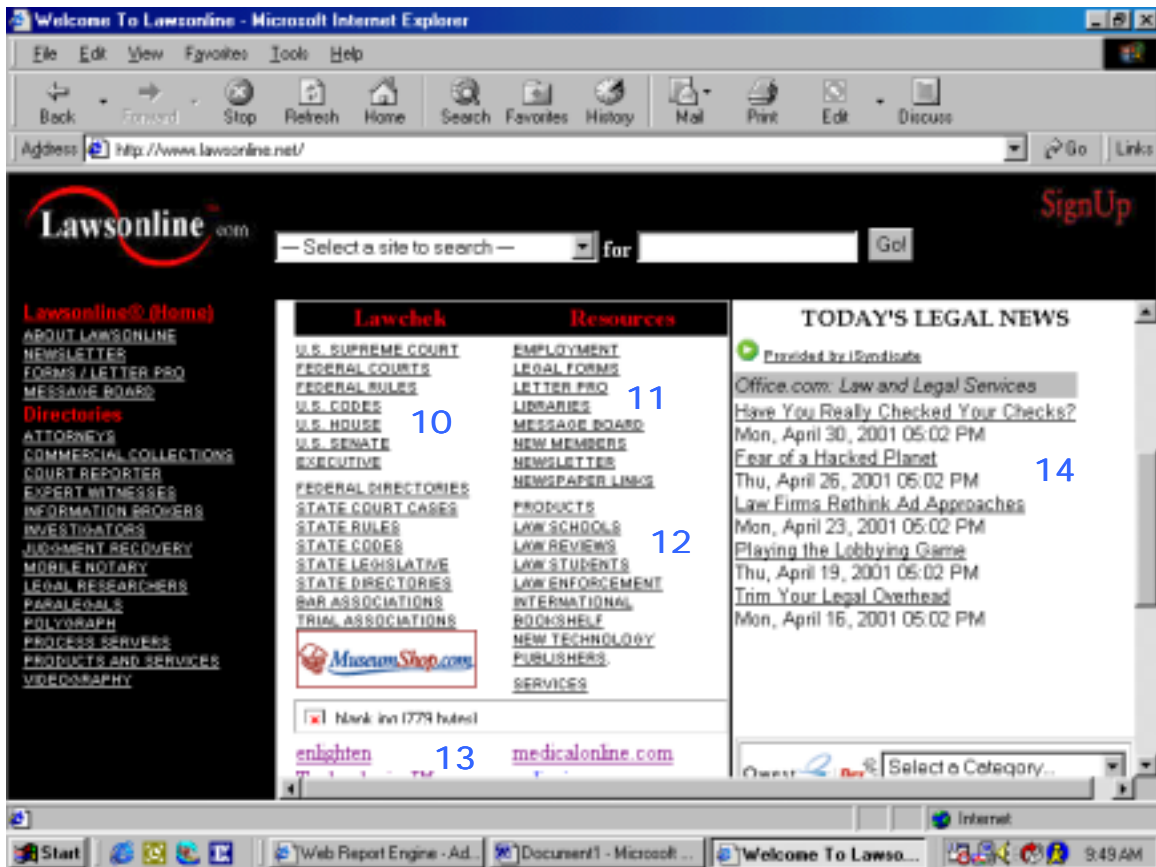

5. Members Entrance: When a client subscribes to our services they are entitled to a great deal more than just getting listed. (see page on members benefits) this is one place where they can use those extra benefits

6. Legal Forms: clients are allowed to access our large database of legal forms (see page about legal forms) from here.

7. Directory Listing: this feature allows users to search any state for the different legal areas they may need assistance with. This is also the area where most of our prospective clients will be listed. It is listed again here to make sure people see it.

8. Sign Up: Prospective clients can sign up online by clicking on this link.

9. Lawsonline News Briefs: This is a scrolling news brief that allows clients to see what is new and interesting about our site. (it is also a click able link)

10. Lawchek links: this is another area like the directories. This is public information compiled by our research staff that gives information about different federal & state agencies

11. Resources: this is a listing of services we provide. Some of this is listed on other areas of the page, but we feel that by listing it here as well it gives a user a better chance of seeing it.

12. Legal Information: While this area is an extension of "Resources" it provides some important information to some users, such as law school materials, and useable information for law students.

13. This is a list of our subsidiaries and other websites.

14. This area provides legal news updated daily.
